INTRODUCTION

The Liao-yuan Thermal Power Plant is located within the city of Liao-yuan, China and is bordered by a small stream bed on the east side.

DESCRIPTION

25X1D

The plant is secured by a wooden fence and is road and rail served. When observed in [redacted] the plant appeared active with at least two boilers operating. Steam could be observed emanating from two of the cooling towers. Two switching yards are associated with the plant. The switching yard located adjacent to the control building consists of one transformer, while the other located just northwest of the plant consists of four transformers. No changes were apparent in the power plant since [redacted]. The plant appeared active on all available coverage.
